Comments received from Hillingdon's Director of Public Health. "I can't check their registered population from here but, if it has doubled in size as they state then they will need additional rooms. In addition to this, the specifications for consulting room sizes have been greatly increased in recent years. Whilst signals have been sent suggesting that room size minima are to be relaxed in London in particular, there is no new guidance as yet. I would therefore be inclined to support the application."		For information
